Plans announced for '73 summer housing

The following plans were announced today for 1973 summer housing at Marian College. As in previous years, there will be workshops, band camps, institutes and other groups on campus this summer whose participants will be living in College housing, in addition to the student sisters, who live on campus each summer.

Students currently enrolled at Marian may live in College housing this summer if one of the following criteria are met (the College housing policy does not apply to summer school students):

1. You will be enrolled in summer school; or
2. You are pre-registered for the fall 1973 semester;

3. You are a 1973 graduate and desire to remain on campus until you find other housing, but not beyond August 15.

The available housing will be:

1. Doyle Hall - Men students, band camps and some workshop participants
2. Clare Hall - Women students, student sisters, band camps and some workshop participants
3. White House - will be open for women students only if 5 or more desire to live there.

1. Summer sessions only
 - a. Day Classes - June 10 to July 24 Room and Board $177.00 Room Only 75.00

- b. Evening Classes - June 10 to August 1 Room and Board $209.00 Room Only 87.00

2. Others

- a. Room and Board: $125.00 per month
- b. Room Only $50.00 per month

General information:

1. Only pay phones will be operative in the residence halls. Phone service in the White House will be at the discretion of the residents. If a phone is desired, it must be acquired from the phone company and be paid for by the residents directly to the Telephone Company - charges are $15.00 installation and $8.40 per month bill.

2. All residents must have a $10 damage deposit on file with the Business Office. Current residents have such a deposit on file.

3. It will be necessary, during the month of August, to have residents change rooms because of the necessity of preparing the hall for the opening of the fall semester.
4. All payments are due in advance. Exceptions should be discussed with the Controller
5. Arrangements for summer housing should be made with the Office of Student Services.

Teleconference to host Marian Feb. 13

Gary Yohler, director of Admissions, will be representing Marian along with five other colleges in "The College Choice" Teleconference Program to be aired Feb. 13 and 20, on WISH-TV, Channel 8 at 10:30 p.m.

The speakers will answer questions called in by the viewers on such subjects as:

- Is college for me?
- How do I decide which college to choose?
- How do I prepare to be admitted?
- What are normal admission requirements?
- How can I get financial aid?

What can I expect when I get on campus?

The three speakers on the Feb. 13 show will be Lou Fontaine, director of admissions and financial aid, DePauw University; Dave Huffman, director of admissions, Indiana Central College; Dennis Cole, coordinator of admissions and special academic programs, Anderson College.

On the second show Feb. 20, will be Stephen Grissiom, director of admissions, Wabash College; Ed Teets, dean of admissions and financial aid, Franklin College; Gary Yohler, director of admissions, Marian College.

Bayh to talk with students

Senator Birch Bayh will be here on campus next Monday, February 19, at 11:30 a.m. to talk to students.

Presently in his second term in the United States Senate, Sen. Bayh was born and raised on a farm near Terre Haute. He graduated from Purdue University with an agricultural degree and farmed for three years until he began his first term in the Indiana House of Representatives at the age of 26. Bayh served two terms as minority leader in his eight years in the Indiana House as speaker in 1959-60. During these years, he also attended law school and graduated from Indiana University in 1960.

In 1962, he won an upset election in the U.S. Senate when he defeated 18-year incumbent Senator Homer Capehart. He was re-elected in 1968 defeating Republican candidate William Ruckelshaus at the same time Indiana carried Nixon by the largest vote margin the president ever achieved in the state of the Union.

In his eleven years in the Senate, Birch Bayh has become widely regarded as one of the Senate's outstanding constitutional authorities. As chairman of the Constitutional Amendments Subcommittee, he wrote and guided to passage the 25th amendment to the Constitution relating to presidential inability and vice-presidential succession. He is currently working on what he hopes will be the 26th amendment which would abolish the Electoral College and give the people the right to vote directly for President and Vice-President. He has also sponsored an amendment to give full voting representation to the now voteless District of Columbia while being one of the prime forces behind the movement to lower the voting age to 18.

Among his other major concerns are equal rights for women, environmental improvement and quality education for all. In January of 1968, after returning from Viet Nam, he urged that the South Vietnamese take over more responsibility for the war and, at that time, asked for troop reductions of American forces in Viet Nam.

Bayh owns and manages a 340 acre family farm in Vigo County, Indiana with the help of his wife, Marvella, and their son, Evan.

Wetland project shows potential

by Rich Vanes

The balance between nature's natural planning and man's intervention in the environment is the job of the Minnesota Environmental Foundation. Working with Marian's 22-acre site, the foundation was hired to develop the site for an outdoor laboratory which will benefit Marian and the surrounding community.

Carl E. Vogt, coordinator for the foundation, stated at the beginning of the project that if the project is to be a success, trails must be built to allow access to Marian's abundant wildlife and foliage. Vogt stresses that too much contact with the area, however, on the part of MAN, could have adverse effects.

A careful look around the area near Lake Marian illustrates the fact that the 22-acre site's topography is quite diverse. Included in the area is a stream, an area of marshland, a large area of abundant farmland, open land, lowlands, and assorted wildlife. From this great variety of land, a number of ideas on how to develop the area have been expressed by Vogt. Some possible uses of the area include photography, nature trail walking, observation of birds, preservation of the natural area, refuge for ducks and geese, education programs for adults and children, and an independent study site for students.

Director Vogt visited the area last week during the two-day program to attract public interest. Sr. Marie Bernard Witte, Department Chairman in Biology, expressed her delight over the success of the workshop. Hopefully, the workshop was only the beginning of a project which could provide Marion County with one of the most unique wetland areas of its kind.

Day Care Center offered

In an attempt to provide a service to our married student population, in particular, our married female enrollment at Marian College, a drop-in Day Care Center is being initiated at Marian.

This service would provide for the married female student an opportunity to bring her child or children to the campus with her. This would save the mother both time and money necessary for an "at home baby-sitter." Care at the Day Center would be more likely based on interest motivation rather than job motivation. It could be staffed by education majors, work-study students with an interest in children, or by interested volunteers.

The second purpose which such a center could serve is to make the college somewhat more attractive to the women in the local community. It could be of service to the woman who married soon after high school graduation and did not have the opportunity to continue her education but wishes to now. It could also benefit the woman who withdrew previously from college and would like to return, even if only on a part-time basis.

A small fee of no more than $1 per hour would be charged to be used solely for procuring toys and supplies needed for the center to make the atmosphere more conducive to the needs of small children.

An age limit has been set and no child under one year or older than six years will be accepted at the center.

If you have any questions or would be interested in coordinating the center, stop at the Red Room in Clare Hall, Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday, Feb. 14, 15, or 16, between 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

Take action now

Who knows? Maybe in ten years there won't be a Valentine's Day.

Maybe by then the only growing permitted or possible will be that of wheat and rice and potatoes. And they'd probably be rationed. You can't eat a dozen red roses, so why grow them? They only take up space anyway. Besides you have to keep changing the water and water must be conserved.

And what about candy? Well, that's bad for your teeth. And think of the calories! Anyway cacao beans aren't on the plants-you-can-grow list so chocolate won't be around either. Neither will peppermint.

People will be conserving on paper by then so cards will be hard to find -- and if there are any -- they'd probably be recycled Christmas cards. Stamps would probably be up to $1.60 each so it would cost too much to send any out (if there were any).

And would you want to call anybody to wish them a happy valentine? With the way the rates are increasing a call from Clare Hall to Doyle would cost $3.00 for the first three minutes and $1.00 for every minute after.

Valentines would look awfully funny if the Heart Fund had their way. They're the ones who keep saying that hearts are NOT shaped like . And if anybody had any sense, they'd send the money they'd spend for valentines to the Heart Fund.

So you'd better get on it before it's too late! Send those flowers before they run out. Get those cards before they go out of style. Tell your lover you care before even love becomes outmoded.

But then what better reason could there be to wish somebody a happy valentine's besides the fact that you want to -- since neither rain, nor sleet, nor lack of paper or candy, can ever stop the delivery of love.

How now Mr. Clean?

A week after a letter in the CARBON, my personal plea goes out for a simple but necessary part of life, cleanliness.

The johns around this place are worse than anyone might conceive. The problem goes to the man in charge, he passes the buck down the line. The day the letter came out, our industrious "Flash" Gordon was seen bawling out poor old Sy who only does what he is told. Is the school so financially bad off that they have to use the same brush to clean both the urinals and the sinks? How can anyone face something like that?

Marian College expects so much from their students so why can't we expect just a little from Marian College?

Valentine's Day, background

by Kathy Giesting

Henri Amiel understood what was going on when he said:

Life is short and we have not too much time for gladdening the hearts of those who are traveling the dark way with us. Oh, be swift to love! Make haste to be kind.

Tomorrow is a special day. A holiday. It has been observed since at least the fourteenth century and probably much earlier observances took place. Traditionally, it is observed by the sending of those missives that say in essence "I'm alive and I'm glad you are too."

This essence has taken many forms -- from the sonnets of Shakespeare to the latest studio cards containing such immortal verse as:

Valentines are red
Skies are blue
Kites are fun
And so are you! JMR

But how do we account for this day when 'tis not yet spring when lovers' fancies have always turned to thoughts of love?

Some authorities claim that the holiday is derived from a February feast the Romans used to hold. They called it Lupercalia and all the young Romans put the names of young maidens in a hat and drew names for partners. It was anybody's guess who you'd end up with as a companion at the festival. With a matchmaking system like this, you can understand why the Romans didn't last as long as they might have.

Of course, everyone's heard of the birds and the bees. The bees don't have too much to say about this day but some authorities say its celebration goes back to the rural tradition about this time of year being the time for the birds to choose mates. Even Chaucer seems to have heard of this explanation. His "Parlement of Fowles" is about a group of birds who meet on Valentine's Day to choose their mates for

Zip Trips go on

The Marian College Zip Trip Program, providing students with the opportunity to attend a wide variety of programs throughout the city, continues this week with trips to the Indianapolis Museum of Art on Tuesday, Feb. 13 and the Legislative Session on Thursday, Feb. 15.

Transportation for both of these trips will leave from the Clare Hall circle at 11:00 a.m.

Tickets and information about these and other Zip Trips may be obtained in the Red Room in Clare Hall across from the cafeteria, Monday through Friday, 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. They can also be purchased from Roger Branigan, Emily Brickner, Jay Farrell, Mary Hafeli, Barb Moll, and Jeanne Whalen at any time.

You may purchase both transportation and ticket or one or the other for any trip at any time. It is intended that this program be as convenient for the students as possible.

Any trips which you would be interested in participating in or comments about the ones scheduled will be appreciated.

the next year. A formel eagle holds up the whole show till she finally decides she can't decide, and her suitors are just going to have to wait a year till she makes up her mind.

The story most people seem to go by -- concerning why this day is St. Valentine's Day -- is the story about a guy of early Roman days named Valentine. Actually, there were quite a few guys running around Rome guys named Valentine running around Rome. It probably explains why some of them literally "lost their heads" -- some of their letters must have fallen in to the wrong hands and some Roman papas probably weren't too happy with what they read.

Of course, there are those who would claim these men to be holy martyrs and the association of their name with the day as celebrated, an accidental one. But one never knows about early Romans. I wouldn't trust one of those Romans early or late.

In spite of all this though, we still look to February 16 as a day to say we care. As John Ciardi put it:

Some of the best people everywhere are waiting always for less than happens every time you smile.

Buono shows humanity

Sitting in front of the boobtube the other night, my eyes chanced upon a figure identical to that of the man I had just interviewed a few days before.

This man, Victor Buono, who seemed so real, so human, and not at all like a super star from a movie like "Robin and the Seven Hoods" which boasted such movie greats as Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, and Sammy Davis, Jr.

Yes, last week Marian College had the pleasure of hosting one of television's as well as the theatre's "heaviest" actors. In my interview with Buono, I found it was rather hard to conceive that a man with such an acting background, the glamor of Hollywood, champagne parties and the like, would sit down with a college student and give him a half hour of his time as he did with me.

Victor Buono, a most entertaining and versatile actor, is 35 years old, by his own admission. He has appeared in television, movies, and has been noted for his outstanding dramatic ability on the stage.

Buono started his acting career in high school in theatre productions. He went on after high school into the San Diego Shakespeare theatre where he moved into the show business world.

'THE OMEGA MAN'

"The Omega Man" is set in 1975 after germ warfare has killed most of the Earth's population. Heston is a research scientist, the only survivor immune to the plague. Another group of survivors is a macabre society of mutants who show the grotesque effects of the plague. Their hair is white, their skin has lost all pigmentation, and their eyes are so sensitive to light that they move only after dark. Heston spends his days hunting them down; they spend their nights trying to kill him, a symbol of the technology that ravaged humanity.

Scenes of deserted Los Angeles, decaying corpses and sinister zombies provide gripping tension and suspense in this effective glimpse of Armageddon. "The Omega Man" is an adaptation of Richard Matheson's novel, "I Am Legend."

Knights best Norsemen for redeeming victory

The final score was 99-87 in favor of Marian but the game wasn't actually that close. Marian's never-say-die Knights still in the running for a coveted playoff berth, rode a combination of hot shooting and fancy passing to charge past a group of Norseman that sailed in from Northern Kentucky State looking for a victory.

Docking at Reynolds Fieldhouse, the Kentuckians found themselves confronted by a team hungry for victory that just weren't to be denied.

Urged on by a near capacity crowd, Coach Ed Schilling's men burned the nets at an over 60% clip, with five of them finishing in double digits. Bill Smith led the way with 24, Joe Wade contributed 19, Jim Apke had 17, freshman Brian Wallace 13, and John Springman 10.

Apke and Wade grabbed 12 rebounds each, with Smith, add-

Forfeit gives jocks 1st win

Exciting action and a few close games marked the scene of the Women's Intramural Basketball court this past week. Monday night's games began with the Beaver Shooters receiving a win through the forfeit of the Jocks. The Comedy of Errors came out on top of the Amazons in a class-competition game and the Sex-tet kept moving by trampling Double Shot. The Snatches, in a more competitive game, overshadowed the Family Plus One 4-2, while the Daughters of Shaft had a much easier time trouncing the Ball Bouncers.

On Wednesday night, Double Shot quickly recovered from their previous defeat to grab a game from the Snatches, while the Jocks were awarded their first win through the forfeit of the Daughters of Shaft. The Beaver Shooters went all out to stack up a win against the undermanned Comedy of Errors, and the Amazons finally illustrated their fantastic basketball skills to defeat the Ball Bouncers 8-6. In the final contest, the Sex-tet easily maintained their unblemished record by outpacing the Family Plus One.

ing 10. John Springman, having one of the best games of his career doled out a school record of 17 assists and wowed the crowd with his adept ball handling. This performance came on the heels of what was probably the Knights poorest showing of the year as they were soundly thrashed by an exceptionally good Wright State crew, 91-68, at Ohio on Wednesday.

Bill Smith, all American candidate, hit for 16 big ones but it wasn't enough as the Knights fell hard.

Joe Wade and Greg Pawlik yanked off eight caroms apiece to lead that department for the Schilling-coached blue and gold.

The Knights play at home for the last time this season on Wednesday night, with down state rival Rose-Hulman providing the opposition.

This game will mark the last appearance at Reynold's Fieldhouse for various senior members who have been proud to wear the blue and gold for the past few years.

These players provided the nucleus for the recent resurgence of Marian College basketball and have provided many thrills for their followers, so it would be appropriate if everyone would turn out and show them you appreciate their efforts.

Bill Smith, Marian's only Basketball All-American, John Springman, and Greg Pawlik will see their last home action. Be there to support them.

Chris Everett scores 2 of his 21 points as Joe Rea unsuccessfully attempts to stuff him in the intramural game between the Social Pros and the Birdmen.

U.W.I. holds unchallenged last place

In the big battle of the two worst teams in the league, White Lightning led by a cast of heroes defeated a lustless U.W.I. led by a cast of goats, 50-31.

Jay Farrell in a rare appearance was the difference in the game, but Dan "Hobbitt" Ryan's 4-4 field percentage sparked Moose's Mighties to an easy victory. Farrell had 12 points, Purcell had 11 Cebulko followed with 9 self-fish marks, and even Dan Kernan with his 6-6 free throw attempts sparkled. Moose Morse added insult to injury with 4 points.

"Toad" Hornbach with his great rebounding ability and 8 unselfish points was the only standout for U.W.I.

Two extremely cold teams, battled and Oedipus Complex came out on top of Mourning After 46-

28. Mourning After, trying to prove that they are not "Scruddy Players," were as poor on offense as was Oedipus, but much weaker on defense. Steve "Percentage-Shot" Hammerle was high man for the winners, while Mike Bazely was the closest member of Mourning After to reach double figures with 9 points.

Mike Hall with 26 points led Wan-Tu-Wazuri over MFIC in a very physical contest 58-50. In a game marked by numerous fouls and arguments, Rick Martin fired in 18 points. Randy Washington with a strong second half finished the day with 21 points to pace his scoring drive. Great hustle was displayed by Ralph "always hyper" Moore as he has showed several times this season.

In a great upset and surprise, the Hill Jacks soundly beat Snafu

Frosh sponsor free concert

The Freshman Class, along with Student Board, is hosting a Free Concert this Friday night following Doyle Hall's movie, THE OMEGA MAN.

In concert will be "Maelstrom," a local group which has hopes of going to the top.

The concert will run from 9:30-11:00 p.m. and will be held in the Marian Hall Auditorium. The concert is open to the public.

46-39 despite the calls by referee Gary "3 seconds" Spradlin. Jerry Leugers showed his team the light to victory with a sparkling performance and 14 points. Timmy Dugan's great rebounding and 11 points added greatly to the Hill Jack cause. Dick Duncan netted 16 points, but Snafu is beginning to feel the loss of Joe Rea in the stretch drive.

In a forfeit game, Birdmen beat the Social Pros. Paul Norman and Chris Everett, crying all year to see their names in print, were stand outs in a pick up game each bogging 21 points.

The Dry Heaves, gagging their way to victory, beat the Half-Courters 55-49 for their third straight win. Ken Ollier was high man for the game with 34 points. "Chuckster" Hein after spending all day Saturday in bed came off the bench and was a defensive standout for the victors. Dave White, league scoring leader, pumped in 23 points for the losers. Gary Yohler struggling after a long night, gathered his strength and scored two free throws.

Steve Padgett and the Courtly Few received their first real scare of the season, but still defeated the Golden Nails 56-40 with an offensive output way below their seasonal average. Coach Jim Apke had his squad ready and led throughout the game until 2 minutes remained with the score tied 39-39. Then Courtly Few reeled off 16 points while Golden Nails managed only one and ace rebounder, Dan Bauer, fouled out. This sets up an exciting match between two undefeated powers next Sunday at 6:00 p.m. Courtly Few 11-0 offense league leaders and Oedipus Complex 11-0, and defense league leader.

"Scruddy Player of the Week" This week the whole U.W.I. with the exception of Ken Hornbach have been unanimously chosen. Their lack of hustle, poor spirit, and false desire in their game against White Lightning were the determining factors. They were only 1 point underdogs, but poor defense and horrible offense allowed them to be defeated by 19 points.

When asked what roles Victor enjoyed the most, he answered, "I enjoy doing priests because of the wardrobe, and doctor roles because of the great drama effects."

Truly a fascinating man, Victor Buono will continue pleasing audiences whether in stage, the tube or in the faculty lounge.
